

PEACE STUDIES PAPERS

FOURTH SERIES

Working Paper 4

in conjunction with

RESEARCH AND TRAINING NETWORK
BRIDGING THE ACCOUNTABILITY GAP IN EUROPEAN SECURITY AND DEFENCE POLICY (ESDP)

European Security and Defence Policy: the rise of the military in the EU

Giovanna Bono

March 2002

UNIVERSITY OF BRADFORD

DEPARTMENT OF PEACE STUDIES

Previous Papers in this Series

Politics in the Next 50 Years: The Changing Nature of International Conflict

Paul Rogers, October 2000

Working Paper 1

Conflict Diamonds: Roles, Responsibilities and Responses

Michael Bourne, January 2000

Working Paper 2.1

Engendering the Field of Conflict Management: Why Gender Does Not Matter! Thoughts from a Theoretical Perspective

Cordula Reimann, January 2000

Working Paper 2.2

Transforming Attitudes Towards the Tools of Violence: The Arms Exchange Programme in Mendoza, Argentina

William H. Godnick, October 2001

Working Paper 3

---

Staff and students are encouraged to contribute to this Working Paper Series. Anyone wishing to do so, please send your paper to David Francis: d.j.francis@bradford.ac.uk .

European Security and Defence Policy: the rise of the military in the EU

Giovanna Bono

March 2002

Contents

Introduction: .....	1
1. The Role of the EU in Security and Defence in 1997 and ESDP at mid-2001: A Comparative Sketch .....	1
2. ESDP: Theoretical and Methodological Issues .....	6
3. The Rise of the Military in the EU: Winter 1998 - 2000 .....	14
4. Conclusion .....	21
Bibliography .....	26

---

About the author

Giovanna Bono

The author is a post-doctoral Research Fellow working on an EU-funded Research and Training Network project entitled “Bridging the Accountability Gap in European Security and Defence Policy”, (see website at: <http://www.esdpdemocracy.net>)

The author is grateful to Dr Owen Greene, Dr Jocelyn Mawdsley, Dr Richard Youngs and Dr David Francis for their comments. The opinions expressed do not reflect those of the members of the network.